John Gary Collins

With 41 years of experience, John Gary Collins is engrained in the auction industry.

The son of a cattle auctioneer, he earned his Texas Auctioneer license at 16 years old, and his career spans auctions across Texas and Oklahoma.

While his experience stretches many fields, his expertise and passion is the automobile industry. His commitment to refining his craft led him to win the Oklahoma Auctioneers Championship in 1997, and his talent and time have also been recognized in 1994, 2001, 2005, and 2006, when he won Reserve Champion in the World Automobile Auction Contest.

Collins believes the auction industry is the purest and greatest form of marketing. He previously judged the Texas Auctioneer Contest and is proud to judge this year's Texas Lone Star Open Big Calling Contest, providing feedback and accolades to deserving young auctioneers.

When he's not auctioning, John Gary's life is rich (and busy), often spent chasing his five grandkids or boating on Grand Lake with his wife. He also serves as a board member for the Chosen House, the first nonprofit organization to provide a sober living home for women in Lincoln County, Oklahoma.

With a legacy built on hard work, dedication, and an unrelenting commitment to excellence, John Gary continues to advance the auction industry, encourage the next generation of auctioneers, and faithfully serve his community.
